The Outlook of Recovery Expense on the 2016 Kumamoto Earthquake

The 2016 Kumamoto Earthquake occurred April and our power supply facilities were damaged. The outlook of recovery expense such as repair costs on this earthquake is around 10 billion yen, and capital investment is around 10 billion yen.

The outlook is calculated based on the damage situation that we can get to know at this point, so there is possibility of fluctuation of the number of recovery expense and capital investment due to changes of the damage situation and calculation.

The profit forecast of FY2016 remains undecided, which is not changed from announcing of our financial forecast on April 28, 2016. We will promptly inform you of our profit forecast when it is possible for us to make them.
